PERSONAL PROFILE

I am a Senior Fullstack Javascript Developer with a mushroom-shaped profile. My core expertise lies in distributed systems –microservices and microfrontends– from where it radiates into adjacent fields. I am a junior-to-mid UI designer and developer, fluent in Docker, familiar with people management and AI, and able to understand the language of QA and DevOps engineers. I take pride in writing quality code that delivers value to its users and my journey to balance short-term business goals against long-term developer speed have made me a fervent believer in Agile, TDD, and constant refactoring. I am used to working independently in a fast-paced, changing environment and love challenging problems that help me learn and grow. If you know any position that fits this description, please get in touch! ;)

Fun fact? This CV was made with LaTeX; check my “LatexCV” repository on github.
